

Spring Skiing

Experience the extended ski season in Club Med ski resorts across Europe and Japan, from March to April.

With longer days and more favourable temperatures, it is the perfect time to enjoy the slopes no matter your ski level.

What are the advantages of going skiing in March and April?

- Low-season prices: The off-peak season means better value packages. Check out the special ski prices, from flights to accommodation.
- Fewer crowds & more time on the slopes: In March and April, the ski slopes are a lot quieter, providing a great opportunity for beginners to work with our ski instructors to improve their technique. Fewer crowds also mean shorter lines at the ski lifts ensuring you maximise your time on the slopes.
- Milder temperatures: Blue skies, warmer temperatures and longer days mean more time to enjoy Club Med's all-inclusive offering. From enjoying a drink under the sun at après-ski, to long afternoons spent carving up the powder snow, the options are endless.
- Winter & wellness activities: Allow yourself to discover the mountains in a different way. From snowshoeing to guided forest walks to dog sledding and even paragliding, there are plenty of opportunities to create unforgettable experiences.
- Cherry blossom season: If you time it just right, you can explore the mainland beneath the native Japanese Cherry Blossom trees. The Cherry Blossom season is expected to peak from late April to mid-May in Hokkaido.
